

English Passage and Problems : mango

Passage 2: The Power of Repetition in Learning

How can we teach our children to memorize a broad range of information? All people have the ability to memorize large amounts of information through repetition. Imagine the grocery store where you shop the most. If I asked you to tell me where the eggs are, would you be able to do so? Of course, you could. The average grocery store carries over 10,000 items, yet you could quickly tell me where to find most of them. Why? The store is organized by category, and you have shopped there repeatedly. In other words, you've seen those organized items over and over again, and the arrangement by category makes it easy for you to memorize the store's layout.

1. What is the main argument presented by the author regarding learning?

Answer: _____

2. Identify the grammatical error in the sentence: 'If I asked you to tell me where are the eggs.'

Answer: _____

3. Transform the sentence 'Repetition helps with memorization' into a passive form.

Answer: _____

4. Explain why the author uses the example of a grocery store.

Answer: _____

5. What does the author imply about the relationship between repetition and category organization?

English Passage and Problems : mango

Answer: _____

6. Which of the following is NOT a factor mentioned by the author in improving memory retention?

- A. Repetition
- B. Category organization
- C. Number of items
- D. Time spent
- E. Visual aids

7. Choose the correct word: 'The store (carry/carries) over 10,000 items.'

- A. carry
- B. carries

8. What is the importance of category organization in memory, according to the passage?

- A. It simplifies search.
- B. It enhances memorization.
- C. It prevents confusion.
- D. It reduces stress.
- E. It boosts sales.

9. Which of the following best describes the tone of the passage?

- A. Informal
- B. Instructive
- C. Humorous
- D. Critical
- E. Nostalgic

10. Explain how repetition plays a role in the process of learning and memory.

English Passage and Problems : mango

Answer: _____

11. Why does the author focus on everyday examples, such as the grocery store?

12. What can be inferred about the author's view on structured learning methods?

A. It strengthens learning.

B. It encourages creativity.

C. It leads to boredom.

D. It improves efficiency.

E. It enhances retention.

13. Rephrase the sentence 'Memorization is important for learning' to emphasize the subject 'learning'.

Answer: _____

14. According to the passage, what are the potential downsides of repetition if not structured properly?

A. Confusion

B. Boredom

C. Increased retention

D. Better results

E. Loss of motivation

15. Based on the passage, how can this approach to memory be applied to educational settings?

Answer: _____

English Passage and Problems : mango

Explanations

1. The main point of the passage is to emphasize the importance of not reacting too quickly in stressful situations.
2. Quick responses can cause problems because technology allows for immediate communication, which may lead to thoughtless reactions.
3. For our ancestors, quick responses were crucial for survival in dangerous situations, such as attacks by wild animals.
4. The author shares a personal experience of making situations worse by responding too quickly in emails.
5. The phrase 'step back' implies taking a moment to calm down and reflect before reacting.
6. The author suggests handling stressful situations by taking a moment to pause and think before responding.
7. The author implies that technology, especially in communication, contributes to quick, unreflective responses.
8. Quick responses are less helpful today because most modern situations do not require immediate reactions for survival.
9. The author gives the example of responding too harshly in emails, which worsened the situation.
10. Taking time before reacting allows for more thoughtful and controlled responses, leading to better outcomes.
11. In digital communication, such as emails or texts, taking a moment to reflect before responding can prevent misunderstandings.
12. Dealing with the other person in a healthier manner refers to engaging in calm and thoughtful communication.

English Passage and Problems : mango

13. The author advises slowing down and thinking before reacting, especially in stressful conversations.
14. A possible consequence of not following this advice is worsening the situation by reacting impulsively.
15. The author's tone is reflective and emphasizes the importance of mindful communication for better outcomes.